CHRISTOPHE CLARET POKER

Poker is the latest in the series of gaming watches from this master watchmaker (after the Blackjack and Baccara timepieces). At the heart of this mechanical marvel is a movement capable of orchestrating a complete 52-card game, following all the rules of Poker, specifically its most popular variant: Texas Hold'em. How do you play? The pushers deal the cards by spinning four concentric discs. When the spinning stops the cards are dealt on the dial in three windows featuring angled shutters to ensure that each hand is invisible to the other players. In addition, with each press of the pusher, a cathedral gong chimes. And yes, the Poker watch also gives the time! Poker is available in four titanium versions, each one in a limited edition of twenty pieces. Price: $198,000 (white gold, black titanium); $193,000 (rose gold, black titanium).
